PRESIDENT'S AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGES

The venue could not be more spectacular! From September 14–17, 2016, the Hilton Waikoloa Village on the Big Island will be rolling out the red carpet to welcome the attendees of the AAST Annual Meeting. The huge hotel is spacious—it has five swimming pools and several restaurants, and it offers a host of other fun things to do.

As customary, the AAST meeting in Hawaii has a unique schedule that allows attendees to have a full learning experience and take advantage of the beautiful and relaxing surroundings. The meeting begins early on Wednesday, at 7:30 a.m., continues throughout the day, and ends with the popular Poster Sessions. Thursday is a half-day of meeting time, and includes podium presentations as well as the scholarship recipients' updates on their research projects. In alignment with our international profile, the Australian and New Zealand program will be conducted on Thursday afternoon. This is an optional opportunity for all attendees at no additional charge. Trainees will be giving 23 of the 70 podium presentations, attesting to our investment in the future of our organization.

Each day of the meeting includes some special features. Wednesday's events include the Resident, Medical Student, and In-Training Fellow Breakfast; the Presidential Address, A Legacy of Caring; and the Master Surgeon Lecture, NIH P-50 Sponsored Team Science in Multiple Organ Failure, will be given by Frederick Moore, M.D. Thursday's special session includes the Fitts Lecture, When Peace Breaks Out, which will be given by M. Margaret Knudson, M.D. On Friday, a panel session will highlight the opportunities for military and civilian collaboration. Later that day, military medals will be presented to honor our members and attendees for their service. The New Member Breakfast will be held on Saturday morning, and the Quick Shots will be presented in two sessions. Finally, the Lunch Sessions, which will be conducted on Wednesday and Friday, will offer a host of topics and cover a wide variety of interest. Special guests at this year's Annual Meeting include the President of the Society of Trauma Nurses, Joan Pirrung, R.N., and the President of ESTES, Jonathan Tilsed, M.D.

I am grateful to Dr. David Spain and the AAST staff, who, through their hard work and talent, have assembled this outstanding program. Also, my gratitude to the presenters and participants whose contributions will provide outstanding educational opportunities for our members and guests. On behalf of the AAST, I'd like to extend our thanks for the financial support from the numerous exhibitors who play a major role in this meeting. I look forward to personally greeting you in Hawaii!

Grace S. Rozycki, MD, MBA
AAST President

Once again we have a strong and diverse program for our Annual Meeting this year, as noted by President Rozycki. As judged by the submissions, topics that are important to our members include shock and resuscitation, trauma system function, coagulopathy, geriatrics, and outcomes research. The Program Committee members put in overtime this year, grading almost 700 abstracts. We also had an extremely productive committee meeting, selecting not just the abstracts, but the invited discussants, panel topic, and lunch session topics. The committee, along with the help of Sharon Gautschy and Jermica Smith, did an incredible amount of work putting together this outstanding program. We are indebted to all of them for their hard work, especially Drs. Rozycki, Croce, Kirton, and Harrington as they complete their terms on the Program Committee.

SPEAKERS

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS A LEGACY OF CARING Grace S. Rozycki, MD, MBA

Dr. Rozycki is the Willis D. Gatch Professor of Surgery Chief of Surgery at Indiana University Health Methodist Hospital, and the Associate Chair of the Indiana University School of Medicine Department of Surgery.

Dr. Rozycki came to Indiana University School of Medicine in 2013 from Emory University School of Medicine, where she served as Chief of Trauma, Surgical Critical Care, and Emergency General Surgery at Grady Memorial Hospital for nearly 19 years. Dr. Rozycki also served as Vice Chair of Academic Affairs for the Department of Surgery at Emory University School of Medicine. Additionally, since 1997, she was the Program Director for the Trauma/Surgical Critical Care Fellowship.

Dr. Rozycki is Past President of the Southeastern Surgical Congress, the Western Trauma Association, and the Georgia

Chapter of the American College of Surgeons, and she is the current President of the American Association for the Surgery of Trauma.

Dr. Rozycki has a strong commitment to education and mentoring; her Mentor Program is in its 19th year. In 2011, she received the American Medical Student Association Women Leaders in Medicine Award. And, in 2015, she received the American Medical Association's Women Physicians Section Inspirational Physician Award.

As a registered diagnostic medical sonographer, Dr. Rozycki conducted the seminal studies on the technique and accuracy of surgeon-performed ultrasound in injured patients.

A graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Dr. Rozycki completed her General Surgery residency at the University of Tennessee, Medical Center at Knoxville, and a fellowship in Trauma/Surgery Critical Care at the Washington Hospital Center in Washington, D.C. Dr. Rozycki also received an MBA from the Goizueta School of Business at Emory University.

42ND WILLIAM T. FITTS, JR. ORATION WHEN PEACE BREAKS OUT M. Margaret Knudson, MD

M. Margaret (Peggy) Knudson MD, FACS attended medical school at the University of Michigan. After completing her surgical residency at University of Michigan, she joined the surgical faculty at Stanford University where she served as the Assistant Trauma Director. In 1989, Dr. Knudson was recruited to the University of California at San Francisco and has attained the rank of Professor in the Ladder Series. Her practice is based primarily at San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center, where she is an attending surgeon with the trauma/critical care/emergency surgery services. For 20 years, Dr. Knudson has served as the Director of the San Francisco Injury Center for Research and Prevention, one of the first CDC-funded centers in the nation. Her research focuses on resuscitation, venous thromboembolic disease, and pediatric injury prevention. She served on the Committee on Trauma (COT) for 17 years, including four years as the Vice-Chair for the central COT. She was awarded the National Safety Council Award from COT and AAST for her work in trauma and injury prevention. She has also been on the Board of Managers of both the Western Trauma Association and the American Association for the Surgery of Trauma.

She is a member of the editorial boards for the Journal of Trauma and Acute Care Surgery and the Journal for the American College of Surgeons and Shock. She was the Science Chair for the National Trauma Institute for four years and continues to be on their Board of Directors. Dr. Knudson has recently been appointed as the Medical Director for the Military Health System Strategic Partnership with the American College of Surgeons.

MASTER SURGEON LECTURE NIH P-50 SPONSORED TEAM SCIENCE IN MULTIPLE ORGAN FAILURE Frederick A. Moore, MD

Fred Moore was born and raised in Western Pennsylvania. He graduated from Allegheny College in 1975, and the University of Pittsburgh Medical School in 1979. He then moved to Denver for General Surgery training at the University of Colorado. In 1986, he joined his brother Gene as a trauma surgeon and medical director for the surgical ICU at the Denver General "Knife and Gun Club." In 1996, he moved to Houston to become the "Red Duke" Professor of Surgery at the University of Texas, Houston, and the Medical Director of Trauma at the Memorial Hermann Hospital. In 2011, he moved to Gainesville where he is currently Professor and Head of Division of Acute Care at the University of Florida. Over his 30-year career, Dr. Moore has participated in a series of NIH P-50 Trauma Center Grants doing robust, multidisciplinary translational research related to the evolving epidemiology of MOF. These research efforts have been heavily influenced by many of AAST's members and other P-50 sponsored research teams. Today, Dr. Moore will provide an overview of three decades of team science related to elucidating the evolving syndrome of MOF, and will emphasize the seminal contributions made by trauma surgeons and the lessons learned along the way.

LUNCH SESSIONS (lunch sessions are an additional $60 to attend)

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

12:00 P.M. – 1:15 P.M.

THE ROLE OF THE RESCUE SURGEON — WHAT TO DO WHEN YOU ARE CALLED FOR INTRAOPERATIVE BLEEDING

Sponsored by the Acute Care Surgery Committee

MODERATOR: Christopher Dente, MD

PRESENTERS: Stephanie Savage, MD, and Andrew Peitzman, MD

The modern acute care surgeon is well versed in the management of acute, unexpected surgical emergencies. Other surgical services, as well as OB/GYN, have recognized these ACS surgeons as rescue surgeons. We all grapple with the optimal vascular training for the surgical residents and ACS fellows as the surgical training paradigm has changed. The primary goal of this session is to describe and standardize the surgical/medical approach to unexpected intraoperative bleeding when the ACS surgeon is called in to help.

REBOA DEBATE: ESSENTIAL OR DANGEROUS?

Sponsored by the Education Committee

MODERATOR: L.D. Britt, MD, MPH

ESSENTIAL: Lena Napolitano, MD, MPH

DANGEROUS: Matthew Martin, MD

REBOA has been adopted in some trauma centers as a standard tool in the armamentarium of trauma surgeons for prompt hemorrhage control. However, the literature is limited and shows mixed outcomes. This session will use a lively debate to discuss the existing REBOA literature, and to determine the ideal application of REBOA in the care of the acutely injured patient.

WHY DO MY MANUSCRIPTS GET REJECTED?

Sponsored by the Journal of Trauma and Acute Care Surgery

MODERATOR: Steven R. Shackford, MD

PRESENTERS: Ernest Moore, MD, and Angela Sauaia, PhD

The session will include an overview of the review process—from submission, through review, to revision and eventual publication or rejection. We intend to review the reasons manuscripts are rejected by JTACS. Our data suggest that the primary reason is insignificant contribution to the current literature and the secondary is insufficient interest to the readership. Our discussion will include strategies to avoid these rejection issues.

TRANSLATING POINT OF INJURY LESSONS LEARNED FOR THEATER TO THE CIVILIAN EXPERIENCE

Sponsored by the Military Liaison Committee

MODERATOR: Kirby Gross, MD

PRESENTERS: Raymond Fang, MD; Mark Seamon, MD;

Alexander Eastman, MD, MPH, and Frank Butler, MD

A significant part of the improved outcomes of combat casualty care over the past fifteen years of war has been due to advances in point-of-injury care. Civilian colleagues have worked to incorporate these lessons into civilian programs. The Hartford consensus is an example of such an effort, which focuses on hemorrhage control. Tactical Emergency Casualty Care (TECC) Guidelines take a broader approach to managing point of injury care. This session will discuss these programmatic efforts and explore successes, pitfalls, and challenges.

BEYOND DAMAGE CONTROL — THROMBOELASTOGRAPHY IN THE ICU

Sponsored by the Critical Care Committee

MODERATOR: Deborah Stein, MD, MPH

PRESENTERS: Mitchell Cohen, MD, Laura Moore, MD, and Sandro Rizoli, MD

We are all aware of the emerging use of Thromboelastography in the Trauma Bay and Operating Rooms with injured patients, but many of us are not aware of the potential implications of use outside of these environments and in other patient populations. This session will:

- Review the basics of Thromboelastography and other related diagnostics (such as multiplate) (Mitch Cohen, MD)
- Describe the use of Thromboelastography in the Surgical and Trauma ICU (Laura Moore, MD)
- Describe the use of Thromboelastography in other patient populations such as cardiac surgery, hepatic failure, post-partum hemorrhage, etc.

CURRENT SURGICAL MANAGEMENT OF COMPLICATED PANCREATITIS

Sponsored by the Acute Care Surgery Committee

MODERATOR: Nicole Stassen, MD

PRESENTERS: Oliver Gunter, MD, and Nathan Mowery, MD

Surgical management of complications related to acute pancreatitis has changed significantly over the course of the last decade. What once mandated exploration and debridement has given way to any of a number of less invasive techniques. The primary goal of the session is to demonstrate the heterogeneity of complicated pancreatitis via multiple case reviews including clinical scenarios, CT images, and intraoperative images and videos. The secondary goal is to introduce attendees to the current armamentarium of treatment modalities available for the management of this complex disease condition.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16

11:45 A.M. – 1:00 P.M.

THE CONUNDRUM OF FEDERAL TRAUMA RESEARCH FUNDING: CURRENT RISKS AND NEAR, MID-, AND LONG-TERM CONSIDERATION FOR TRAUMA AND INJURY FUNDING IN THE UNITED STATES

Sponsored by the Program Committee

MODERATOR: Todd Rasmussen, MD and Colonel Jennifer Hatzfeld, MD

PRESENTERS: Jeremy Brown; Jennifer Hatzfeld, MD, and Todd Rasmussen, MD

Objective:

- Review the current landscape of federal trauma research funding
- Present strengths, weaknesses, and risks with current structure
- Lay out potential near, mid-, and long-term strategies for trauma and injury research funding in the US

OVERCOMING THE EHR: COMBINING TRAUMA CARE AND THE COMPUTER

Sponsored by the Publications and Communications Committee

MODERATOR: Jason Smith, MD, PhD

PRESENTERS: Jason Smith, MD, PhD, and Thomas Santora, MD

The implementation of an Electronic Health Record (EHR) into the workflow of a Trauma Center can be fraught with difficulties. While surgeons often recognize the important advances that EHRs have enabled, particularly in accessing information remotely (like checking a patient's test results from home) and improving compliance with guideline-based care, surgeons have also noted important negative effects of current EHRs on their professional lives and, in some troubling ways, on patient care. However, despite these drawbacks, a recent RAND study noted that fewer than 1 in 5 physicians who used an EHR would prefer to return to paper medical records.

Understanding strategies to maximize both implementation and professional satisfaction while using an EHR to help deliver healthcare to trauma patients is vital to the progression of our profession.

The invited discussants will briefly outline ways they have been able to use the EHR:

- Prioritize the synthesis of data instead of the collection of data
- Customize the experience to the physicians instead of the "physicians to the system"
- Understand where paper is still "king"

Following the session, the attendee will:

- Understand strategies to mold current EHR systems into a more usable tool
- Understand the limitations and benefits of the current technology

RIB FIXATION: WHO, WHEN, WHY

Sponsored by the Acute Care Surgery Committee

MODERATOR: Marc de Moya, MD

PRESENTERS: Walter Biffl, MD; Raminder Nirula, MD, PhD, and Andrew Doben, MD

This session will focus on the contemporary evidence to classify rib fractures, understand who would benefit from fixation, and understand the best timing of rib fixation.

COMPLEX ABDOMINAL VASCULAR TRAUMA

Sponsored by the Program Committee

PRESENTERS: Raul Coimbra, MD, PhD, and David Feliciano, MD

Description of operative approaches to complex abdominal vascular wounds including the following:

- Proximal superior mesenteric artery
- Supraceliac aorta
- Aortic bifurcation
- Suprarenal IVC
- Portal/Superior mesenteric veins

RARE OR UNUSUAL HERNIAS

Sponsored by the Acute Care Surgery Committee

MODERATOR: Jose Diaz, MD

PRESENTERS: Martin Croce, MD, and Charles Adams, MD

Acute care surgeons frequently encounter surgical oddities on nights or weekends when senior assistance is unavailable. This session will describe the presentation, diagnosis, and surgical management of unusual hernias such as: traumatic lumbar hernia, intercostal hernia, Morgagni hernia, etc., that acute care surgeons may encounter.

STOP THE BLEEDING: ESTABLISHING A COMPREHENSIVE COMMUNITY-WIDE HEMORRHAGE CONTROL PROGRAM ACROSS YOUR TRAUMA SYSTEM

Sponsored by the Prevention Committee

MODERATOR: Alexander Eastman, MD, MPH

PRESENTERS: Lenworth Jacobs, MD, MPH; Ronald Stewart, MD, and Richard Carmona, MD

The objectives of this Prevention Committee sponsored lunch session are:

- To review the findings of the Hartford Consensus and how they affect trauma centers and trauma systems.
- Highlight the role of the immediate responder, and review best practices with regards to successfully training, equipping, and empowering immediate responders to intervene when required.
- Provide attendees with the tools to launch the Stop the Bleed Initiative in their trauma systems.

PROGRAM

Presentations/Panels

This year, 70 oral presentations will be offered over three days. Each presentation will be twenty minutes in length; ten minutes will be allotted for the presentation, and ten for discussion from the audience.

Quick Shots

On Saturday, September 17, from 8:00 – 11:00 a.m., 26 Quick Shots will be presented. Each presenter will have three minutes to speak, and can use up to five slides, to give a brief background of their topic. Then, a discussant will have one minute to ask two questions, and the presenter is given two minutes to respond.

Scientific Posters

A total of 140 scientific posters will be available for viewing beginning Wednesday, September 14, at 5:00 p.m., through Friday, September 16, at noon. Poster categories and professors will be listed in the final program book, which will be available on-site at the meeting. The Poster Rounds will be held on Wednesday, September 14, from 5:15 – 7:00 p.m.

Industry Exhibits

At this year's meeting, AAST will host an array of industry-leading companies. These exhibitors are available to discuss their latest products and services, and exchange information with attendees. Please see page 11 for exhibit hall hours and a list of participating companies to date.

NETWORKING & SPECIAL BREAKFASTS

Resident, Medical Student, and In-Training Fellows Breakfast—Wednesday, September 14 from 6:30–7:30 a.m.

AAST holds a special breakfast at each Annual Meeting for all attendees who are residents, medical students, or in-training fellows. President-Elect Raul Coimbra, MD, PhD, will give a short presentation. This is also an opportunity for residents, students, and in-training fellows to network with each other.

This breakfast requires pre-registration and is a ticketed event. If you plan to attend, please check the box located next to this event on your registration form (online or paper). There is no cost to attend this breakfast.

International Attendee Breakfast—Friday, September 16 from 6:15–7:25 a.m.

AAST invites all international attendees to a special breakfast to learn more about the AAST, have the opportunity to network with other international attendees, and to meet the International Relations Committee. The breakfast requires pre-registration and is a ticketed event. If you plan to attend, please check the box located next to this event on your registration form (online or paper). There is no cost to attend this breakfast. Hans-Christoph Pape, MD, Immediate Past President of ESTES, will be the presenter.

New Fellows Breakfast—Saturday, September 17 from 7:00–8:00 a.m.

This special breakfast is for new members who have joined AAST within the last two years. AAST encourages all new members who are at the meeting to attend. This is a chance to meet the new AAST President, as well as other members of the AAST Board of Managers. This breakfast requires pre-registration and is a ticketed event. If you plan to attend, please check the box located next to this event on your registration form (online or paper). There is no cost to attend this breakfast.

 2016 BRONZE SPONSOR

PASSPORT TO PRIZES

Attendees must visit at least 10 of the exhibitor displays during the meeting and have a company representative stamp a square per each passport card. All registered physicians and medical personnel are eligible to participate. Drawings will take place in the exhibit hall on Thursday at 12:30 p.m. and on Friday at 1:00 p.m.

Each attendee will receive two (2) cards (one for Thursday & one for Friday). Get 10 exhibitors to stamp each card for a chance to win: A trip to the 76th Annual Meeting of the AAST & Clinical Congress of Acute Care Surgery, September 13–16, 2017 (Baltimore, MD) OR a trip to the 77th Annual Meeting of the AAST & Clinical Congress of Acute Care Surgery, September 26–29, 2018 (San Diego, CA). Prizes include: Complimentary meeting registration, 4 nights hotel stay, and either 1 extra banquet ticket or 2 lunch sessions.

*Medical students are not eligible to win trip prizes. They can win a $200 American Express gift card.
